

- (c) how the data is kept up-to-date;
- (d) how comprehensive the data is (for example, by reference to the range of persons included in the data and the period over which the data has been collected);
- (e) whether the data has been verified from a reliable and independent source;
- (f) whether the data is maintained by a government body or pursuant to legislation; and
- (g) whether the electronic data can be additionally authenticated; and